

Sask Polytech would like to formally recognize April 14-20, 2024, as National Medical Laboratory Week.

Medical laboratory professionals are behind every patient, using their technical expertise to collect samples, analyze specimens, provide vital answers, and care for their patients every day. On behalf of Sask Polytech, thank you to the medical laboratory professionals who dedicate their time, energy and knowledge to keep Canada safe and healthy.

Christa MacLean, Dean

School of Nursing, School of Health Sciences

Saskatchewan Polytechnic